“ We had many great times together as children and grown ups ,but as time goes by we all do our own thing ,I last saw him while doing a repair job for his daughter and told me how he prays to God many times during the day and was on the right path ,I could truly say I loved this man and his family ,I will always remember the great times we had !!!! “ Before I married his brother we were down in the basement with Rachel and Jeff. Chuck was being Chuck. He started jumping around being silly and he went to sit down hard and landed on a knitting needle which was impaled in his butt cheek. Mom and Dad Jennings took him to the hospital to get it removed. When he came home we never let him forget it. He probably still has the scar. He was a great brother in law. I loved him then and still love him today. I am so sorry for your loss. He had a rough life but now he is at peace. I know he is with Mom and Dad Jennings. He will be missed but I believe he will watch over his babies and grandbabies.
