Dale, pretty sure you are really gone and i did not want to believe it nor did i know you have a girl's middle name and i never got to razz you about it. You are the least dead type guy in the world....how can a man who's a cross between Mark Twain, Waylon Jennings and Bill Clinton be anything but always alive and full of wit and fun and delicious happy conversation. My good luck to meet you while we were both ensnared at Hallmark, writing ridiculous cards and snarking it up...

You became a life long friend and what all you went through to keep going physically to work and raise your fam and philander and spread your stunningly handsome self around the world...brings tears to my eyes..

You endured a lot, my precious pal...you did a lot since you were that chubby baby sittin on the tractor on the cover of Farm Days..

If you want to visit me from the other side, it's okay. The Beebs did that and it was a comfort.

All love to you and your fam..they have got to be telling tales of you til we all meet again..
