“ Where to even begin. We had some hilarious times at Wright School together, the male class clown while I was the female. Life took us on different paths as we got older, however similar ones. A year ago when we met back up, couldn't of been better timing. Both of us trying to better ourselves and stay on the right path. You always expressed his grateful you were for my support and you were so humble found it hard to believe how much you actually helped me too. But you certainly did Justin. You gave me hope on my worse days, even more you gave me laughter man. I couldn't sit in self pity with you around, you always brought me out and I'd find myself laughing! You were so selfless, I always had to remind you how important you really were! The world was so much brighter with you in it. I know you're with me even now. I'm so proud of you, and so glad I got to have you with me the last year. The times we had will be cherished! Your strength and perseverance will always stick with me and I promise to live for the both of us till we meet again! I love you bff, forever and always. Thank you for giving me hope again for friendships. <3

To his family, you guys meant the world to him! He loved each and everyone of you and you guys gave him a reason to hang in there! He never stopped talking about the amazing ppl in his life and all the good times! You're all in my prayers and I'm here for anything you need!

“ Love you always and forever, bub!! This past week has been surreal. So many memories have flooded in from our childhood; living with grandma and living with us, trips to Kentucky, running all over Fairborn, knock down drag-outs (getting in trouble by mom, Diane), BB guns, cane pole fishing, sneaking turtles home with us from Kentucky, hiding the fact that you got shot in the stomach from grandma. So many memories from a lifetime ago. As adults we didn't have as much time together, but we talked on a regular basis and the love never changed, you'll always be my baby brother! I know in my heart you were met on the other side by grandma, dad, mom, uncle Charlie and Josh. Take care of each other and watch out for those of us still walking the earth. I wish I could turn back time and see all of you together. I love you💕

“ My dearest cousin, how you loved sooo damn BIG and respected every one you had in your life.

We weren't that far in age difference. I remember last summer whenever you came to spend the time with me. We went driving around looking for this townhouse. That cat was homeless in a back neighborhood. The cat crapped on my arm.. 🤢🤢 you didn't say anything until you gagged randomly. Lol

Started laughing because I didn't know it happened.

I appreciate you coming & staying with me that night. The talks we had.

Wish you would've stayed longer. By time I got home from work you'd already left my apartment.

Whenever I got the chance to call you explained to me you're not good at goodbyes.

Nor am I. Not like this.

Know bub I love you & you're important to me.

Thankful that you got to be apart of my life, I will always remember as a kid us all climbing in mammaw and Pappaws tree & getting in trouble. Lol brandi too! 🤢

Until we meet again, I miss you & hope you're mom's holding you close.

Love always,

your cousin Candice Mitchell

“ Justin,
Dang dude it's been a while! I have a few memories, some of when moved to Texas. And then you lived in Ohio for a bit. And then when papaw passed I moved in with y'all. You and Nathan were like big brothers to me at that time. I remember you being more quite then anything lol. My heart hurts for your sister and brother that your gone. But your not living in this crazy world anymore and your in the most beautiful peaceful place, and that's comforting. Your with your mom again. Watch over your brother and sister and Necie. They all miss and love you ❤️

“ Justin, you are missed at Ranchers. I miss your smart ass comments you always said. I never thought I would miss that but I do. I miss your goofy laugh when we know we did something wrong while Pat was there. You had an impact on my life. Thank you for being the person you were. You will be miss.

“ I am still in shock that this has happened. I regret not being close as you grew up. Never dreamed you would be gone at such an early age. I have always thought about you and your siblings but never reached out to you like I should have. For that I will have hurtful regrets my whole life. When I think of you the first thought is when I first moved to Texas with Candice and Brittany and I first met you. You were such an adorable blonde hair a blue eyed little boy. So shy and sweet. You would stay all night with me and the kids and loved it. I remember how you would just smile and give me a hug. Mamaw and Papaw just thought you were so sweet too. Now you get to see them and Your Mom and Jody. Your other loved ones too. We love you and always will. God show him your love and mercy and hold him in your arms forever. Amen ❤️

“ Justin has one of my favorite coworkers at Ranchers. He was a tall goofy guy always with a funny story to tell. He was kind to all he knew. I miss him greatly.
