“ So sorry for your loss. I graduated from high school with Lois, keeping in touch mostly at class reunions. I was so fortunate to enjoy lunch with Lois a few summers ago, her last family trip to Olgebay Park. She was so strong in her faith & fight & is at peace now. Love & prayers to her family. 🙏 She will always remain in our hearts. ❤️

“ Where to I begin.....I hired Lois as a water clerk many years ago...having no idea that decision would change my life forever. Lois quickly became a friend and more like a second mom to me. She gave me advice if I wanted it or not. We shared lots of stories about our lives, we laughed a lot, gossiped a little and shared a few years during the years. This woman always worried about others. She never complained about cancer or what she was going through. She always felt bad if she needed to take the day off as she didn't want me to be working by myself. I will cherish every memory of this special friend. She grew beautiful angel wings and now is our guardian angel....

“ The profound significance of human connection was so beautifully on display at my Aunt Lois's funeral this past weekend. The room was overflowing with flowers and with family and friends whose lives she had touched with her kindness. I was struck by how similar the memories were for others about all the times when she called to check in. This loss is felt deeply. My dad, her brother Kess, now in late stage Alzheimer's, does not have the cognitive awareness to know she is gone and I'm grateful for that. But also incredibly sad for him and for his brother Don, that they could not go through this grieving ritual together. Dawn Michelle told me that my Aunt Lois adored me, and I really felt that. Her pride radiated with every professional accomplishment and personal milestone, not just for me, but for every member of her extended family. And her family pride extends back into time to her Cherokee heritage, which I will devote time to researching in Lois's honor, and doing what I can to address the issues that face Native American communities. With the deepest sorrow for my Uncle George and Don, my cousins Brenda, Dawn Michelle, and George, may your memories be of comfort to you in the days and years ahead without her

“ Lois was by far one of the finest human beings I have been blessed in knowing while on this planet. I had a dark time in my life, Lo stepped up and played a huge role in my battle back into the light. Her insight was immeasurable, she seemed to always ask about my kids or grandkids in times of turmoil. Grateful for so many things too numerous to mention. R. I. H. sweet lady.
