“ My grandfather Lotsie who I always called Pappaw came to my house one day and invited me to play guitar at church. At the time I was not a Christian, I played heavy metal music in a metal band, was a bit of an alcoholic if i must admit, and had no idea how to play any Christian music or any lyrics to any Christian songs whatsoever. He was very persistent and determined to get me there however so I did my best to learn Silent Night in time for that church service. I was just going to play and get out of there as fast as I could and that's exactly what I did. My Pappaw was so persistent however that he got me to go to another service a week later. At that service I got saved became a Christian and my life hasn't been the same since. That man as far as I can remember did his absolute best to never miss a church service and loved more than anything conversations about the Bible.
