“ Jon, I always appreciated the way your Mom let us kids attempt to make clay cups and such in her workshop and kiln. Much later, I also loved her invitations to come speak with her classroom about careers. She and you remain in our thoughts.

“ We are so sorry to hear about Nancy. We do know that God has welcomed her with open arms. Nancy was a very special lady and good friend. We have so many fond memories of both Joel and Nancy. Many a Wednesday morning found us sharing biscuits, honey and fun conversations at Bob Evans. We also made a trip to Texas and Nancy came along so she could make a visit to Texas A&M. Also, several visits to their big farm house including when Trey “house sat” and John came home in the middle of the night surprising both Trey and John. We sure laughed over that. We are sending hugs to your entire family with much love and prayers. May God bring you comfort.

“ Jon, I remember working in the garden at Gateway with your Mom. She always had a story to tell and was always so encouraging. She came to our knitting class a few times and entertained us all. She always caught us up on what you were doing and was so happy when you became a Master Gardener. I have kept up on her health through Lois. Wishing you all Gods grace. Ruth Ann Rahim

I remember all the times Nancy and I spent a nite together at the church when we housed the homeless. We enjoyed each other's company so much. She was so sweet and then there all the Bible studies we had together. Special memories for me. And that wonderful maple syrup. Wishing you all peace and comfort. Bernadine Jines

So very sorry for your loss. Nancy was a master gardener volunteer with me for many years. I really got to know her when we roomed together at the international MGV conference in St. Louis. So much fun. Your Mom was truly a delight. We have missed her the last few years. Lois has been keeping me up-to-date on her however. Again, my deepest sympathy to you Jon, and to your family.

“ Cindy, I am sorry for your loss. I met your mom at a series of pottery classes in Yellow Springs. I was a true beginner, and she was much better than me. She was delightful to chat with while learning how to use the pottery wheel. She spoke about you and was very proud to be your mother. She was a genuine, classy lady. Marilyn Reid

“ *Aunt Nancy and I went to an author conference together in Ohio and we had a great time learning about many authors. She was a strong influence to promote reading for our students. When she retired she gave me many of her trade books to encourage reading with my students. She gave me strong tips about good literature and study guides from her favorite books. We visited them many times in Ohio and they always treated us superbly. Aunt Nancy was in great physical condition, and we enjoyed walking with her when we visited. I miss her enthusiasm when we would chat about promoting writing with our students. I feel saddened that she was unaware of the two books I published because I know she would have been thrilled since she was a positive influence for me to become an author. We will miss her. “ I remember interviewing Nancy when she opened the Yellow Tulip. I was working for The Mad River Weekly.

I knew Joel quite well because he saved my husband when he had pneumonia. After that interview we always looked forward to seeing them both at their home often stopping to say hello as we drove by.

"We named the business because of the tulips growing outside my window". She was a great gardener too.

“ My husband Bill and I (Carol) have many fond memories of Nancy (and Joel) as do many others from Enon UMC. Nancy had a great sense of humor and was very active in our church. One of my fondest memories was a church picnic we had at their house. I was in charge and we put up a huge tent in their back yard and had the picnic catered. Joel told me that when it was time to eat, I could ring the old school bell on the shed by the driveway. Little did we know that there was a hornet's nest in the bell. So when I rang it, an angry hornet flew out and stung me in my armpit. Oh man, did that hurt. One of our congregation, Phil Nicholzen, had some chewing tobacco in his mouth at the time and came over and said he'd make it better by sticking a chewed up wad under my arm. Gross!! A few minutes later, Dr. Vanderglas came over and said "come with me" and we went in the house and he immediately grapped the wad and threw it in the trash. He further indicated that wouldn't help at all and put some first aid cream on it and ice. I spent the rest of the day with a swollen arm pit, but it was a great picnic that I'll never forget. Our daughter Christine, babysat their dog one summer while they were traveling and loved staying at their house, and loved taking care of their dog who was Joel's very best friend. We had many fun times on their back porch for many church activities, and also just for a visit. They were most hospitable. Loved them both.
