“ I can still remember the first time mom took us three kids .To Kentucky angie didn't want to go across the bridge mom stop right in the middle of it we laughed . We crossed into Kentucky going to green up lake mom stop next to a slate hill side . And took are pictures we all didn't want to go home she made us .then the road trips down home to put flowers on the graves .mom would tell us about all the faimly memories she had with them. Even the first time she took us camping all I want to do was go fishing. The break of dawn the next day I ran down to the cliff with my fishing bait and pole a screech owl cold out and my butt turn round right right back up the hill my mom laugh so hard. dog Dobby later that night chased a ground though the camp ground. Then mom got scared made us sleep in the car. Then some years later she took her grandchildren camping I went with them and in the middle of the night I got woke up because her granddaughter Dakota needed a running toilet with a flusher. First time mom ever went to the zoo she rode the carousel had a blast mom always wanted to go back down home every time we got a chance we take her down there mom loved going across Greenup Lake on the boat mom left her mark on every one of us never asked for a handout never asked anybody do anything for you. She said that way you can't never be let down or disappointed mom raised 3 kids strong headed like her. There's more I could say about Mom it all ended with this
A son's love never falters wherever he goes in life no matter what happens that love between a son and his mother grow stronger and stronger I love you Mom

“ When I was 11 Aunt Shelia read my palm.... She said I would be independent, have 3 children, 1 before I married 2 after I married, my 1st marriage would be about 12 years my second marriage would be til death. And I would die of a heart attack. ALL was Exactly the way she said except the last 2 are yet to be determined. That when I Really thought Aunt Shelia was Magical. Almost everything she predicted came true. I will greatly Miss her and all her Stories. I love you to the moon and back!!
